PITTSBURG'S latest sensation is "A Paste in Oil." It was painted by a Dane.

Now they say that President Cleveland intends to marry Miss Folsom's aunts, and not Miss Folsom.

A HIGH school debating club in Illinois is wrestling with the question: "Resolved, Can a girl boycott anybody?"

SENATOR LOGAN'S bill for the creation of the Department of Labor deserves thoughtful consideration by the whole country.

THE Chicago Anarchists, in private caucus, drew lots, and those who received slips of paper marked with skull and cross bones, armed themselves with bombs to throw at the public. There are other foreigners, besides Chinese, who are a dangerous element in America.

THE Atlanta Constitution says: "The chieftain of the lost cause has accepted his destiny. He stands by his record; stands by the past; shirks no responsibility; makes no apology, and calmly awaits the judgment of history."

And that judgment will be that Jeff Davis was an old mutton head.

LOUD complaint is made by the denizens of Main street extension north against Mr. Carr, the contractor on the culvert for the main zanja crossing that thoroughfare. According to specifications the culvert is to be completed June 1st, but as yet the work has not been commenced. All other improvements in that quarter bang on the completion of the culvert. The Council ought to move Mr. Carr along.

OHIO has a long roster of distinguished names, which, for the achievements in war and statesmanship it represents, will grow in appreciation by comparison with the roll of honor of any other State. Hon. S. S. Cox beautifully stated a truth when he cabled to the Ohio Society banqueters at New York a few nights ago: "Ohio is full of civil and martial honors. Her sons are peers without heraldry; her daughters peris without a harem. Fill the golden horn."

COMMENT has already been made on the petition filed with the Supreme Court of the State last Saturday, asking a rehearing in the case of LUX vs. Haggin in the riparian rights case. A San Francisco exchange thinks that the petition shows to a demonstration that the decision of the Supreme Court, reversing the court below, was based upon a misconception of the true state of the evidence, and that as a matter of actual fact nothing was conceded by the Lux suit which would justify a reversal. It also shows, what was not before generally understood, that this being so, the question of riparian rights is not necessarily involved in the decision of the case, and that it may yet be determined without a decision of that vexed and vital question. However, the ghost is not to be laid by ducking our heads. The principle of riparian rights must be met and settled for all time, so far as California goes.

THE Halifax Herald contains a poetical address to Senator Frye, of Maine, in which that gentleman is called a "white-livered tyrant, an ass, a knave, and, in fact, a very old fish," all because the Maine Senator has become the champion of the rights of American fishermen. Below is a sample of the address:

Will Congress dare, while many a workman
Is starving,
To waste a million more to Maine fishmongers
And close the markets to Canadian fish?
And James, ye rats, it is a dangerous diet!
We do not wish to fight, my Yankee friend,
But, if it come to fireworks in the end,
We have artillery within this nation
Can knock the spurs off any to creation.
Our three mile belt will surely be defended
Should vessels come before your laws are mended

Their uselessness will soon be o'er,
And many a drifting hulk will desolate the shore.

The old French cannon lying down at Queen's Wharf hoard the Yankee navy all to smithereens.

And, with another mounted on a fore-and-after,
We'll sail up Boston Harbor just to kindle Holmes's laughter!

This is a real Jingo defiance.

RAYMOND AND WHITCOMB.

Another Excursion for the East—Out for a Long Trip.

A special train arrived at the depot yesterday bringing the three palace sleepers, "Diamond," "Chatawa" and "Evansville," occupied by the Raymond and Whitcomb party, of thirty in charge of Lesher & Holden, of Boston, assisted by H. H. Fuilam. The party is out for a long trip, and, after visiting the principal points of interest in California, will take steamer, June 18th, for Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Victoria. Returning to Portland, they will go up the Columbia and, at The Dalles, will take the Northern Pacific road East. They are due at St. Paul, Minn., July 3.

The members of the party are S. T. Bedford and wife, Dorchester; Miss L. S. Brewster, Mrs. Thos. M. Brewer, I. M. Cutler, Jos. J. L. Cutler, Boston; Miss Fannie B. Fitch, Miss Sadie G. Fitch, Miss Susie L. Fitch, Mrs. William Fitch, Norwich City; Dr. Mary K. Gale, Woliaston; Mrs. H. H. Hosmer, W. B. Hosmer, Jr., Miss Louise, Maj. Edward J. Jones, Miss Ella M. Macomber, Hon. George H. Monroe, Mrs. Hon. J. B. F. Osgood, Salem; Miss. John Felt Osgood, Boston; Miss Ann Phelps Pliatsplace, Providence; G. Waldo Smith and wife, James N. Smith and wife, New York; Miss Jessie T. Smith, Boston; Miss Susie, Stoneham; Hon. Edwin Smith and wife, Merle St. C. Wright, Boston.

A Distinguished Guest.

The last meeting of the Woman's Club was honored by the presence of Dr. Marie Zakrzewska, the daughter of a noble Polish house, whose pedigree runs back of the English nobility. She came to this country in 1854 to secure a medical education, graduating among the prominent members of the profession with pre-eminent ability, and is at present physician-in-chief of the New England Hospital for Women and children. She spoke eloquently and earnestly to the members of the Club, relating her experience of the birth of such clubs, and urging upon the members the helpfulness of original work.

After spending a vacation with Dr. A. Shaw, of Oakland, she will again visit Los Angeles before returning to her hospital work in Boston.

First Street.

The much-vexed question of how to run First street to the western part of the city—whether by a high grade, low grade, tunneled or "rat-tail-cash" roads—awaits solution. The property-owners interested will meet in Council chamber this evening at 7:30 to discuss the matter for the last time. They hope everyone concerned will be there.

WASHINGTON.

Second Day of the Viticultural Convention.

LOGAN'S LABOR ARBITRATION BILL

Proposed Creation of the Office of Second Vice-President—The Senate Passes the Pension Bill—Etc.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Increasing interest was manifested to-day in the National Viticultural Convention. During the afternoon addresses were made on the varieties of vines which have been grown with success in Virginia, and on methods for suppressing vine diseases. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The development of grape culture in the United States raises serious questions concerning the future of this important industry, in which is invested already $116,000,000, an amount of a value worthy of the Government's care, and, whereas, the effect of adulterated and spurious wines with the pure products of the vineyard leads greatly to the injury of the morality and health of the consuming public, and competition proves ruinous to viticulture, and, if permitted, will result in its utter demoralization. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That this association memorialize Congress to secure a section of viticulture under the direction of the Department of Agriculture, and, if established, that it shall be granted such appropriation as will enable it to conduct all experiments so necessary in the improvement of vineyard products, by pruning and culture, use such remedial measures as are thought to promise advantage or benefit, and to afford all means for the development of viticulture.

Resolved, That the bill introduced by Hon. Wharton J. Greene of North Carolina defining pure wine and providing a means for its protection receives the unanimous approval of this body, and if enacted will protect this growing industry from evils which threaten its destruction, and check the work of men who, for private gain, are engaged in defrauding the public and in bringing discredit upon American wines.

A committee was appointed to memorialize Congress on the subject of the creation of a section of viticulture in the proposed new Department of Agriculture. The President will receive the members of the convention in a body to-morrow.

The main hall of the Masonic Temple was filled to-night with invited guests, who examined the various varieties of vines exhibited from States east of the Rocky Mountains. To-morrow evening the sampling will be devoted to California wines.

LABOR ARBITRATION.

Main Features of the Bill Introduced by Logan.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Senator Logan presented in the Senate to-day a substitute for the Labor Arbitration bill which recently passed the House, which in substance provides as follows: For a commission of arbitration to be appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate to consist of five members, one to be selected from the Republican organization, one from the Democratic organization, one who is not recognized as a member of either of the two organizations, one from a class of citizens experienced in the management and administration of railroads and in the transportation of property and passengers, not in the employ, connected with or interested in any railroad corporations or company engaged in any business connected with the transportation of persons or property, and one who is identified specially with the labor interests, having full knowledge of the conditions and employments of laboring people.

The persons comprising the commission shall be men having superior knowledge as to the industrial and commercial interests of the country. The commissioners are each to receive $3500 a year salary; and are empowered to employ the parties of a stenographer and messenger; the two former to receive $2000 per year, and the latter $1400. The commission is also allowed actual and necessary expenses. It is made the duty of the commissioners to meet and organize as soon as may be after their appointment, for the purpose of hearing and determining such matters of differences between the transportation companies, either by land or by water, and their employés as shall be submitted to them for arbitration, such submission to be in writing and signed by the parties of the controversy. In all cases submitted for arbitration the parties to the same are required to sign an agreement to submit to the commission. Every hearing and decision shall be in a summary and in a formal way, according to the principles of equity and justice applicable to the circumstances of the case, and each party shall be given full opportunity to be heard in person and by witness, and shall have the right to be represented by counsel. After concluding the hearing and controversy the commission shall make its report in writing setting forth the facts upon which it is based, a majority of its members concurring therein, and immediately transmit the same, with a copy of all the evidence, to the President of the United States, who shall make the report public as soon as it is received. A copy of the award shall be transmitted to the District Court of the United States in the district where the controversy arose, and it shall be spread upon the records of the court and have the same binding force and effect as the decree of the court, and shall be enforced in the same way. The expenses of no single case of arbitration shall exceed $1000. The commission may be convened to visit any place where controversies may arise, and it may take testimony, hear counsel and make its decision at any place in the United States. It shall have, through the President, to Congress the results of all investigations.

The bill amends the act creating a bureau of labor, so that the bureau shall hereafter be known as the Department of Labor, and Commissioner in addition to the duties now required of him by law is required to communicate with the various railroad and transportation companies, and with all other companies engaged in the various industries where any great number of persons are employed, and ascertain the number of employes, the manner in which their labor is performed and its character, and the conditions, situations, manner of living, facilities for educating their children, and relations of labor and capital generally; also to make comparative lists and statements as to the hours of labor of the various employments, the character of the labor and compensation therefor in various European countries, and to report the result to the Secretary of the Interior who shall report it to Congress. The total expenses of the performance of such duties shall not exceed $50,000 per year. The commissioners of arbitration shall hold their offices for three years unless sooner removed by the President for good and sufficient cause, which cause shall be reported to the Senate with the nomination of the successor of any of them.

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

A Bill Providing for a Second Vice-President.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—A bill was reported to-day from the House Committee on Electoral Count, proposing a constitutional amendment creating and defining the office of Second Vice-President. It provides that in case of the removal from office by death, resignation or constitutional disability both of President and Vice-President, the office of President shall devolve on a second Vice-President of the United States, who shall be voted for in distinct ballots at the same time and in like manner, and for the same term as the President and Vice-President, by electors appointed by the several States. In case of the removal of the Vice-President from office, or his death, resignation or constitutional disability, or when the Vice-President exercises the office of President of the United States, the second Vice-President shall be President of the Senate, and he shall also act as such in the absence of the Vice-President from the Senate, but shall have no vote unless the Senate be equally divided; provided, however, that the Senate shall choose a President pro tem. in the absence both of Vice-President and second Vice-President or when the Vice-President shall exercise the office of President of the United States and the second Vice-President shall be absent from the Senate, or when the second Vice-President shall exercise the office of the President of the United States.

XLIX CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—In the Senate the Pension bill, after a number of amendments were made and accepted, was finally passed to-day—yeas, 34; days, 14.

Yeas—Aldrich, Allison, Blair, Bowen, Brown, Conger, Cullom, Frye, George, Gibson, Hale, Hampton, Harrison, Hawley, Hoar, Ingalls, Logan, McMillan, Mahone, Manderson, Miller, Mitchell, of Oregon, Morrill, Payne, Plumb, Riddleberger, Sawyer, Sewell, Sherman, Spooner, VanWyck, Voorhees, Walthall and Wilson of Maryland.

Nays—Beck, Berry, Blackburn, Call, Cockrell, Eustis, Gorman, Grey, Jones, of Arkansas, McPherson, Morgan, Saulsbury and Vest.

NATIONAL NOTES.

The Question of Dakota's Admission—Rumor About Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—At a meeting of the House Committee on Territories to-day, an informal agreement was reached that the Senate bill providing for the admission of Southern Dakota as a State should go upon the House calendar adversely reported, and that the Springer bill, providing an enabling act for the entire Territory, should go upon the calendar as favorably reported. Owing to the absence of several members, a formal vote was not taken, but it is expected that this will be taken at the meeting Monday next.

ANOTHER RUMOR ABOUT CLEVELAND'S WEDDING.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The Bulletin's New York special says: The Eastern papers are now claiming to have discovered that President Cleveland's bride is to be Mrs. and not Miss Folsom. The question was first raised in Washington, the Boston Journal to this effect: "A gentleman who is very intimate with the President says it is true that the President is to be married, but not to Miss Folsom; that he will be married to Mrs. Folsom, the mother of Miss Folsom, a widow of 44; and that the President is very much amused at the current reports."

JUDGE SEPULVEDA WARMLY GREETED.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The Examiner's Washington special says: Judge Sepulveda, of Los Angeles, arrived to-night from Pittsburg where he was invited to attend a reception tendered by prominent business men of that city who had met him in Mexico. Judge speaks in high terms of the treatment he received. He was interviewed at length by the morning papers and gives a glowing account of his experience in Mexico.

REPORTS OF THE CHOLERA.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Marine Hospital Bureau has received reports showing that cholera in a violent form has appeared in the village of Bregane, France. Marseilles is also said to be in a deplorable sanitary condition, and the mortality record for the first three months of the present year is greater than for any preceding year, being at the rate of 40 per 1000 of the population. Cholera is reported to have made its appearance in that city.

FOREIGN.

An Adverse Report on the Panama Canal's Progress.

PARIS, May 19.—M. Rousseau, the delegate appointed by the Government to inspect the work of the Panama canal, has presented a report in which he denies the correctness of the Canal Company's statement representing its facilities for construction, the time when the canal will be completed and the amount of money still required to accomplish the work. M. Baihaut, Minister of Public Works, will inform M. De Lesseps and his fellow directors that they must reply to M. Rousseau's report, as the Government cannot authorize the proposed issue of lottery bonds until the position of the company is made clear.

MINISTER COX AND THE SULTAN.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 19.—United States Minister Cox, to-day, had a three hours interview with the Sultan. The American Minister presented to His Majesty the gratitude felt by President Cleveland, consisting of a thousand views of scenery in different parts of the United States, portraits of celebrated and typical Indians, copies of the last census reports, etc. The Sultan was well pleased with the presents, and requested Mr. Cox to thank President Cleveland for the "unique and valuable gifts." His Majesty said he had recently ordered the taking of the Turkish census, and asked Mr. Cox to cooperate in the work by giving him the benefit of his American experience.

PRILLER'S MURDER.

Strong Testimony Against the Prisoner Brooks.

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—Brooks, alias Maxwell, on trial for the murder of Preller, was taken into the criminal court this morning. Hunt, the clerk of the Southern Hotel, was the first witness, and his examination and cross-examination consumed the greater part of the morning. He testified that he was cashier of the hotel at the time of the murder. He identified the prisoner as the man who, in April, 1885, registered as "W. H. Lennox Maxwell, M. D." He identified a photograph as that of Preller who arrived at the hotel April 3. His testimony was a repetition of the facts known of the intimacy of the Englishmen, Maxwell's apparent lack of money, the disappearance of Preller, the departure of Brooks for San Francisco, and the discovery of the body in the trunk.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19—Judge Edmonds this morning fined ex-Supervisor Micah Doane, Senator Richard Creighton and Frank Northey $500 each, for contempt of court in attempting to bribe jurors in the suit of Mrs. Wright vs. the Geary Street Railroad Company. The crew became rebellious and refused to obey the commands of the officers. To-day complaints were sworn to before the United States Attorney by the Captain of the Mariposa against the fifteen crew which was run into by the night from Pittsburg where he was invited to attend a reception tendered by prominent business men of that city who had met him in Mexico. The Chicago Citrus Fair.

The managers of the recently concluded Citrus Fair in Chicago have prepared a report to the Southern California Immigration Association, which gives a very comprehensive view of their successful enterprise. Many points relative to the organization of the exhibits, the personnel of the management, the opening exercises, etc., have already been laid before the public by special correspondents, but some details are now given authentically for the first time, and will prove highly interesting. The report says:

"The average attendance during the first two weeks was from 2,000 to 4,000 daily. Unfavorable weather reduced this somewhat in the third week; but from that time to the close there was a steady increase. The total attendance was nearly 75,000, of whom more than one-half received complimentary tickets.

"A notable feature of the exhibition was the high character of the visitors—the majority of them constituted the best classes of people and business men both of Chicago and the States and cities of the Northwest. Over 15,000 names were registered on the books of the Immigration Association."

Invitations were sent to President Cleveland and many other dignitaries and well known people of the country. Letters of regret at their inability to attend and expressing an interest in California and in the citrus exhibit were received from the President, through his Secretary, D. S. Lamont and from F. D. Grant.

"Many visitors came with the special purpose of making inquiries concerning Southern California, with a view to settlement. Thousands of copies of papers and pamphlets relating to all sections, were distributed under the direction of the Commissioner of Immigration, and every effort made to answer fairly all questions asked.

"The interest manifested by the fruit dealers, both in Chicago and other cities, was one of the most important benefits of the fair. The following card, voluntarily published in the Chicago Inter-Ocean, by the representative dealers named, indicates the opinions very generally entertained:

"'A delegation of South Water street merchants, composed of W. H. Peacock, who made the first shipment of fruits from California to Chicago; R. R. Coburn, of Bigelow & Lafauci; and D. E. Evans, of T. W. Evans & Co., Cleveland, Ohio, visited the Citrus Fair on Saturday, the closing day, to make a close inspection of the fruits so long exposed. They reported substantially as follows: 'We were more than surprised to find the fine condition of the fruit after it had been picked from the trees for two months and exposed to all the changes of climate and atmosphere. We consider the Washington Navel, St. Michael, and Mediterranean Sweet the finest and among the best keeping and shipping stock that comes to our city. We find that many other varieties of California oranges, both among the Riverside and Altambra and San Gabriel collection, but few that would compare with the varieties mentioned. We also found the Lisbon and Eureka lemons in a good state of preservation, and we were informed that some of them had been picked from the trees five and six months, and fine in flavor and color. Southern California is fast coming to the front as one of the finest fruit producing districts in the world.'

"A director of the New York City Fruit Exchange, who came to Chicago especially to visit the Citrus Fair, stated that he was satisfied Southern California fruits will very soon lead the world. He has spent several years in the fruit-growing districts of Southern Europe, in the interest of the orange and lemon trade, but was convinced that our budded oranges, particularly the Washington Navel, have no superior in any clime. He was accompanied by a prominent lime and prune merchant of Bordeaux, France, who declared with real French enthusiasm, that Southern California will very soon produce sweet wines and prunes equal in quality to any grown in his own country. On every hand favorable comments were heard, and, what is a noteworthy fact, not a single adverse criticism was made.

"Financially, the fair was a success. The full expense was over $10,000, and the receipts were sufficient to pay all expenses, exclusive of the personal expenses of the managers, which they paid from their own pockets. Had $100,000 been expended in any other method of advertising our resources not nearly as valuable results could have been reached, either in the interests of immigration or the marketing of our fruits.

"The publication, at a great expense, in conjunction with the Chicago Inter-Ocean, of a colored lithograph representing the fair as it appeared when open—a bird's-eye view of the Transcontinental railroad systems transporting our exhibit, and sketches of well known places in Southern California—should be highly appreciated by every resident of our favored country. As an advertisement it is unequaled, and as a work of art it should be acceptable to every home and office in Southern California. It has been purchased by the Immigration Association, and another large edition will be issued soon. Every citizen interested in advancing the interests it represents should aid in its distribution."

The managers, in closing their report, acknowledge the co-operation of the newspapers of Southern California, and appreciate the valuable services rendered by them to the project.

"We went to Chicago," they say, "not over confident of the success of our enterprise; but we were cordially welcomed by all classes of people, and cheered at every step. From the moment the doors were opened until they closed on the last evening, we found willing hands and ready pens to assist us in the work. We desire to express our deep gratitude to the people of Chicago; and we believe that a vital connection has been made between the business interests of that great city and Southern California, which will grow stronger and closer as time goes on."

In conclusion, the managers recommend that a permanent board of managers be organized under the auspices of the Immigration Association, for the purpose of conducting any exhibits of California products which it may be found advisable to hold, in the East, at any future time.

The managers of the Citrus Fair are certainly entitled to the gratitude of the people of Southern California for inaugurating and carrying to a successful issue an enterprise of so much public importance.

A CRANK

And His Peculiar Persecution of a Poor Woman.

L. T. PIERCE AS AN OBNOXIOUS LOVER.

An Insulting Epistle, a Package of Giant Powder and a Bouquet Within Three Days.

Several times, within the past ten days, L. T. Pierce has published defamatory matter concerning Mrs. Lizzie Simmons, whom he alleged was a fraud and an immoral woman. The TIMES gave place to his first statement, thinking, as he represented, that it was for the public good to give warning against an imposter; but when he attempted to load down its columns with long defamatory letters, ulterior motives were suspected on the part of Mr. Pierce, and he was shut off.

Last Sunday a scurrilous notice was found posted on a blacksmith shop near Mrs. Simmons's place of business, 140 South Spring street, and, as it was of a piece with the matter Pierce had published, and about as foul as some things he had written her in anonymous letters, she naturally attributed it to him. Acting on this hypothesis, she proceeded to give him a cowhiding. The fellow tried to strike her with a rock while she was administering the castigation, but a bystander prevented him from doing so.

Mrs. Simmons was subsequently arrested on a charge of battery, and will have a hearing before Justice Ramsey next Monday. Pierce is also under arrest on a charge of misdemeanor.

A reporter of the TIMES called at Mrs. Simmons's place yesterday and found her to be a respectable looking and intelligent woman. She has a small front room, lily furnished, in which she conducts a little business in bleaching and pressing ladies' straw hats. In a small apartment in the rear of this she lives, with her two children, the elder called May, a bright sensitive girl of 13, who is a hopeless cripple, and Grace, aged 9.

Mrs. Simmons made a statement of indignities put upon her by the man Pierce, calculated to make the blood of an average white man boil. In support of her statement she showed a bundle of half a dozen anonymous letters which she had received from Pierce, together with the indecent notice which she pulled down from the blacksmith shop.

A letter, unsigned, having the date of May 6th, bears the printed heading "Office of L. T. Pierce, Contractor, Builder and Machinist." It is addressed "Old Irish Trumpet," and is altogether too obscene for publication. It concludes with the sentence, "I hope you will prosper. You will hear from me later through the News Papers."

Another letter, dated May 7th, and unsigned, is on the same kind of letter head. It commences with the phrase, "Dear Lizzie," and is altogether too obscene for publication. It concludes with the sentence, "there is such a thing as making a true friend a bitter enemy because revenge is sweet to some when one that means no harm is set upon by a hord of worthless pimps.

The contents of this package is a very bitter enimy, more so than the friend is good, and as you roughly say, the other half dosen sticks of it well need would bring you to your Sences, but it might be too late for you, but it will surely come unless you comply with request that have been ask. an interview is sat and you had much better not refuse that place where you are ought to be sent up in the air and you and others with it unless you retrace your steps. look out no more foolishness in mine you know who the writer is I can have just so much wool pulled over my eyes and no more I will put in close the package of Giant Powder But you will hear from it soon enough when you feel yourself and pimps going up a warning

On the following day (May 8th) a newspaper was received by Mrs. Simmons, enclosing an envelope bearing the word "Specimen." The envelope contained a small quantity of giant powder and some bits of fuse.

On the succeeding day (May 9th), Mrs. Simmons received from her cranky admirer a fine bouquet, which she promptly returned to him.

The next day Pierce waxed pious, as shown by the following:

MAY 9th (Sunday, 1:30 p. m.)

I have just returned from church and Sabbath school. The morning text was a grand one—one that filled every hearer, and I wish you had been there and heard it. Oh, that you could only see things in another light!

I am very sorry that the trouble that has come between us did come on your account. But could not help it.

You may think that I am your inimy, but while I was in church to-day and was thinking [illegible] of myself and children, I broke up my mind after hearing and listening to that grand sermon that I was still your friend and have been from the time I first got acquainted you—and, after all that has been said and done, nothing would please me better than to meet you in a comfortable way and have a long talk with you. It would do you no harm if it does not accomplish anything I hope it. Please accept the enclosed as a token of interest that I mention this I am now rooming at 36½ South Spring street, up stairs. Room 4

Respectfully

PIERCE

P. S. I will see you any place exceptn our place and I assure you that I ask you this for your own especial good. * * * * If I do not hear from you I shall take it for granted that you wish to carry on the war path and do as you have been doing, then I shall decide what is best for me to do. I can do considerable if I set out for it.

Following is a copy of the notice posted in the blacksmith shop:

PUBLIC NOTICE

There is a Grate Show at 140 South Spring st. day and night. A couple of Grate Shows from Kansas City also two from the Vienna Skating Rink are always in attendance in Mrs. Lizzie Simmons, the old Hag Prosser and Squeezer. She keeps Jail Birds and in fact She keeps everything that is degrading to humanity in her Shebang. She can climb a ladder to the top of the skating rink building, when she is sober, with — and — (to) boo her up. She can drink more whisky than any man in the city. (Seal)

ONE THAT KNOWS.

It is inconceivable that any man, if he have a drop of manhood in his veins, could thus persecute a woman.

Mrs. Simmons, as stated, seems to be a respectable woman, and is apparently struggling to make a living in an honest way for herself and her two helpless children.

Anti-Boycott Criticised.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: In the MIRROR of yesterday I read an article signed "Anti-Boycott," in which such gross assertions are made against the industrial habits of our people that I must enter a protest. When any man, be he from New York or any other country, says "had it not been for the Chinaman * * * I should neither have had vegetables to eat nor clean linen and clothes to wear," he falsifies the real facts. When I came to this State, twenty-six years ago, and to Los Angeles county, sixteen years ago, Chinamen did not exclusively run the vegetable gardens nor the laundries, and people could get better vegetables and cleaner linen than they do now, and the money they paid for the washing and for such vegetables went in on the hands of our own people, who made homes, built churches and schoolhouses, and some of it, no doubt, was sent to improve the condition of the heathen in China, and to good purpose, no doubt.

As short a time as twelve or fourteen years ago (it seems but a short time) I used to raise a surplus of choice vegetables in the home garden, and could find ready sale for what was not needed at home, and the extra dimes obtained in that way priced out wonderfully in meeting the expenses of a new place; but, with the advent of the China gardener, that can't be done any more.

Now, I do not wish to be understood, Mr. Editor, as being in sympathy with the boycott, as I am not, as it is attempted to be applied by some, but you can put me on record as never employing a Chinaman (or a tramp, who is not his equal) when I can get a man, as the class of labor I employ are cheaper at $2 per day than a Chinaman at $1.25, or a tramp for his board, and I have not paid $25 to Chinamen as long as I have been in this county, and I have employed an average of one man for every day I have lived in the county, and perhaps more, as I frequently have worked six men at a time at my work for a month or more. My work has been general farm-work, horticultural and nursery work. The class of men employed have been temperate, industrious young men, and men with families, and I cannot call to mind a single one but is a taxpayer to day and in comfortable circumstances, and some are well-to-do. I would like to ask "Anti-Boycott" if, when he hires a Chinaman, he is not virtually boycotting just the class of men I employ as much as I am boycotting the Chinamen? And how much does the State and county get towards supporting the government from his laborers, except what is levied by the occasional "haul" of an opium den?

Yours, respectfully,
BYRON O. CLARK.

A KENTUCKY REPUBLICAN MOURNS THE LOUISVILLE COMMERCIAL.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: In quoting, in this morning's TIMES, the very generous (?) mention of the Louisville Commercial of the recent utterances of that arch-traitor, Jefferson Davis, you credit that paper with Republican proclivities. At one time, the Louisville Commercial was a standard authority with the Republicans of my native State, and, indeed, wherever it had a reader. Tempora mutantur et nos mutamur in illis. It is now, and has been for years past, without any political principles, and has "floated on the surface of occasions." If, after an observation of men in Kentucky for years, in the most heated political contests, in which I have tried, to the best of my ability, to advance the Republican cause, I may be permitted to express an opinion of such utterances as those made by the unrepentant ex-President of the dead Confederacy, I would say that no Kentucky Republican views them with any degree of allowance. The Louisville Commercial does not voice their opinions. That journal never made a promise that it did not break, and never had a friend that it did not betray. To dissemble, to deceive and to betray, seems to have been objects which it assiduously pursues as if it considered them worthy of the highest ambition. In the hour of their need the Republicans of Kentucky brought the paper into existence, gave it capital and prestige, and—it trafficked with the Bourbons in 1882, and shamefully and treacherously betrayed its friends. It is said to have been paid more than thirty pieces at the close of the transaction. I know of no analogous case, unless it is that of Lord Clide, that for perfidy and infamy is parallel; and who, when charged with corruption and bribery, said: "When I have princes bidding for my favor, and the magnates of the land pouring treasures at my feet, by ——! I am astonished at my moderation." No man can judge of what the Louisville Commercial will do by what it says. It has a practical monopoly of the villainy and falsehood of the press of Louisville; its political principles are as changeable as the hues of the chameleon, and if they could be compiled for the last six years, would make a mixture as strange as the hell-broth that boiled and bubbled in the witches' cauldron. It has no right to condone the expressions of a traitor under color of the Republican flag. It is brazen impudence to attempt it. Let the Republican press speak out everywhere and denounce this resurrection of treason. Let the different posts of the G. A. R. follow the brave and patriotic example of Stanton Post of this city, and in earnest language express their disapprobation of such sentiments coming and parade. I am, with much respect,

Your friend and adherent,

S. F. SPERER.

Real Estate.

THE GREATEST

Real Estate Sale of the Season!

Subdivision of the celebrated Co-operative Nursery Tract. Grand sale of 482 beautiful residence lots, each 50 feet front, including 15 extra large size corner prize lots, on South Main street, near Jefferson, at $250 each, on easy instalments, without interest. With these lots are included ten beautiful and expensive cottages, four mast electric lights, ample and heavy plank sidewalks in front of every lot, 14-year-old seedling orange trees; also bearing grapevines—all of which improvements are free to subscribers. Books for subscription will be open on and after Thursday, April 29, at J. M. BATCHELOR & CO.'S, Real Estate, Auctioneers, 236 North Main street, Baker Block.

The owner of this property respectfully refers to His Honor Mayor Spence, President of First Nation l Bank; President John E. Plater, of Los Angeles County Bank; President Geo. H. Bonebrake, of Los Angeles National Bank.

A very unusual opportunity to obtain a lovely home in the most beautiful southern suburb of Los Angeles.

Four hundred and eighty-two lots for sale on terms within the reach of any one wishing a home of their own at less rates than house rent can be obtained.

Over one-half of these lots contain 14 one-year-old seedling orange trees—not common oranges, remember. A few lots of this section afford a good family living. One-third of these lots are covered with the three best varieties of bearing grape vines. All but a small portion of the remainder is in 11-year-old full bearing seedling orange trees.

This estate, sightly and well situated, noted for the care it has always had, with high, level ground, way above any possible overflow, is the gem of the city.

The scenery in every direction is of great extent and beauty. Situated 2½ miles south of the Postoffice, on the chief thoroughfare of Los Angeles, directly in a line with the heavy or more valuable business growth of the city. No other street contains such valuable property. This fact is most important and should be remembered by those looking for future rise of values. But ten minutes' drive north of this site, on the same street, lots of same size sell for $2000 each.

TERMS—Cash; or, $50 cash, $35 in 1 month, $10 in 3 months, $10 in 3 months and every month thereafter until $250 is paid.

Subscriptions will be received at above rates direct by the owner, whose responsibility is of the highest class.

A meeting of all subscribers will be held on or about July 31, 1886, for the purpose of selecting the lots subscribed for. At this meeting a committee of five will be appointed by the subscribers. The name of every subscriber will then be read aloud from written slips of paper, which will then be placed in a suitable box from which, when all the names are placed therein, will be drawn by the committee, one name at one time. The name, when read aloud, permits its owner to select the best lot from the entire number unchosen.

A deed will then be made out, and the subscriber can take immediate possession. The deed to remain in the owner's hands until the full $350, the price of the lot, shall be paid. To give every subscriber a fair chance, one name is entitled to select no more than one lot containing a dwelling house, nor is one name entitled to select more than one-half the lots that name subscribes for either on New Main or San Pedro streets, except in case of two lots only in one name. These dwellings are to be beautiful in design, ten in number, and strictly first class in every respect; complete in all appointments, and ready for occupancy without additional expense. Their cost of construction is a comparatively large figure. Plans and designs may be seen at our office, J. M. BATCHELOR & CO., Real Estate, Auctioneers, 236 N. Main street, where the subscriptions are now received. Maps to be had and every information on application.

The Main street horse-car line has already arranged to go to the corner of Main and Jefferson streets, within five minutes' walk of the tract, and will be extended to pass the tract on demand of a sufficient number of new residents.

A second horse-car line is projected to pass within a block of the entire east side of the tract, which extends nearly one mile on San Pedro street. Also the main line of Col. Howland's Electric Railroad will run either past the entire tract on San Pedro street or within a parallel block, on its way out of the city. The Santa Monica Railroad has now a flag station within five minutes' walk of the tract, so there will be no lack of conveyance to and from the center of the city. The value on the ground is of the best quality. It can be tested at the laborers' Lodge on San Pedro side of the estate. Water will be piped from the city mains as soon as there is a sufficient demand.

The property lies close by the University of Southern California, affording a first-class education for the young, within easy walking distance.

Teams leave Baker Block daily, including Sundays, at 9:30 a. m., 12:30 p. m. and 3 p. m. Fare 5 cents.

Startling Phenomena
—OF—
THE FORCE OF MIND
—OR—
POWER OF WILL.

By request of several gentlemen of this city, Dr. Truesdell, the noted Scientist and Metaphysical Healer, submitted to a private test of his phenomenal powers in their presence, at the Grand Opera House Hall, on Monday afternoon, May 17th.

Three "sufferers" from chronic rheumatism were brought (almost instantaneously) under the influence of the operator, and each, in turn, forced to cry "enough," when previous to the Doctor's application the full power of Mind (or Will) to bear upon their bodies, and each subject was known have violent trembling of the entire body, or calmed down, at will. The climbs were shaken or drawn up by a motion of the operator's hand, and the most acute pain induced or sent away without touch.

The "force" was felt with equal power when the Doctor stood the length of the hall from his subject.

The simple touch of a finger excited the Noted Highland View Tract.

Parties can visit the tract by bus or by the L. A. and S. G. V. R. R. train, which pass it six times daily; but a far more pleasant trip can be made by private conveyance, fifteen minutes' drive from the Postoffice.
The celebrated Prospect Avenue, six miles long, traverses this tract, and the outlook from it at this point upon the surrounding suburban homes, the adjacent hills and distant mountains is unsurpassed.
It commands a view of Pasadena, Sierra Madre Villa, San Gabriel Valley, Raymond Hotel, San Fernando Valley as far as the eye can reach, and the ocean in the distance, as well as a nearer and more perfect view of the City of the Angels.
According to our project, the superior inducements are manifest, since there are fewer lots upon that might be expected, together with lower and better terms than any preceding investment proposed to the public.
Owners will transact all business with the respective parties purchasing. Premises open to the fullest inspection at all hours of the day. All questions courteously answered and particulars clearly set forth.
Lots vary in size from 30 to 70 feet front by 60 to 175 feet in depth.

IN AMERICA,
The crystallized salts, as extracted from grapes and fruit, a most wonderful product from nature's laboratory. Have it in your homes and travels—a specific for the fagged, weary or worn-out. It cures sick headache, dyspepsia, stomach and bowel complaints; removes biliousness, stimulates the liver to a healthy action, counteracts the effects of impure water and the excessive use of alcoholic beverages and prevents the absorption of malaria, and supplies to the system the want of sound ripe fruit.

WELLS-BELL.

The Criminal Libel Suit Progressing.

A VERY SPICY SESSION YESTERDAY.

Wells Says He and His Wife Dined With Baldwin and Some Young Lady, Maybe Miss Perkins.

Judge Cheney's Court was opened at 9 a. m. yesterday, and the work of securing a jury to try the criminal libel suit against Major Horace Bell was resumed. At last the panel was completed by the selection of R. D. Guthrie, A. M. Hathaway and J. M. Gregory.

Assistant District Attorney George W. Knox was the first witness called for the prosecution. His testimony was merely to show that at the preliminary examination Major Bell had stated that he was the editor of the Porcupine on the 6th of February; that he wrote and published the alleged libelous article headed "Was it His Wife," and was responsible for it; and that the Porcupine is a paper of wide circulation.

Rev. P. F. Bresee, of the Fort-street Methodist Episcopal church, testified that G. Wiley Wells is a member in good standing. Had never heard that when Wells came here he joined the Episcopalian church first, then went over to the Presbyterian, and finally joined the Methodist.

Prosecution wished to introduce in evidence a copy of the Porcupine of Feb. 6 Defense objected, on the ground that the issue contains other articles which form the foundation for other libel suits now pending. Their objection was to the introduction of the whole paper unspecifically. Pending the solution of this tangle, court adjourned to 2 p. m.

Afternoon session.

When court convened at 2 p. m., Judge Fitzgerald specified the alleged libelous articles in the Porcupine of Feb. 6 which it was desired to offer in evidence. The first was headed, "The Delectable." No. 2 is "Sherman on Wells;" No. 3, "His Crown of Glory;" No. 4, "Wined and Dined with the Beast;" No. 5, "Was it his Wife?" Mr. Daly objected to all but the last two as immaterial, irrelevant and not germane to the subject of the indictment.

Judge Cheney took the Porcupine, read the articles and laid it down gingerly, saying, "In the light of the authorities I think the articles admissible."

Defense excepted to each article.

District Attorney Holton rose, and in a sonorous tone orated the various articles Major Horace enjoyed the reading. So did the crowded court room. Each particularly pointed sentence of the Major's prickly prose caused a ripple of mirth; and some of the saltiest passages sent a very audible chuckle through the crowd. There was special cachinnation over the article "His Crown of Glory." Mr. Wells seemed as placid as a pomade jar, and gave no signs of irritation.

Then the prosecuting witness took the stand, and said he had lived in this city about nine years.

Mr. Holton: "Examine this article, headed 'Was It His Wife?' Is it true or false?"

Mr. Wells: "It is false."

Mr. Daly: "I object. The question of whether that article is true or false is not susceptible of the answer yes or no. The question is incompetent."

Overruled and exception noted.

Mr. Holton: "Take the witness."

Mr. Williams: "You say 'it is false.' What is false?"

Mr. Wells: "That I ever took a woman not my wife to Beast Baldwin's den. I was stopping at the Baldwin Hotel on business, with my wife. Going up in the elevator, one day, Mr. Baldwin invited us to dine with him in his private dining-room, separate from the hotel dining-room. We did so. Mrs. Dexter was there, so was Anita Baldwin, and some young lady came in and sat next Anita, later, whom I took to be a governess. Neither my wife nor I was introduced to her. I didn't know her name. I can't say it was not Miss Perkins."

Mr. Williams: "You were attorney for Baldwin in the Baldwin-Baldwin breach-of-promise suit weren't you?"

Mr. Holton objected and was sustained.

Mr. Williams: "Your wife wore diamonds on that occasion, didn't she?"

Mr. Holton: "I object. Is immaterial." Overruled.

Mr. Wells, to queries: "I presume she did, as ladies usually do. She probably had finger-rings and bracelets with the stones in them. I was attorney for Baldwin then, in one particular case, a water case. No, it was not that in which Emerson was concerned. I never was engaged in any case in which Emerson was concerned. Emerson and I have been intimate, there-halt or three-quarters of an hour. Mrs. Dexter was Baldwin's mother-in-law, I believe."

Mr. Williams: "Isn't she the same lady who was referred to in Baldwin's own letter as 'that old hag?'"

Mr. Holton objected, and was sustained. Exception noted.

Mr. Williams: "Is it a fact that the entire influence of this Methodist church trembled in response to the shock?" [Much laughter.]

Mr. Wells: "I don't know. I am a very humble member of that church. I should think that any church that had a member who acted as this article alleges would either trouble or expel him."

Mr. Williams: "What do you see in that article that alleges any immoral conduct?"

Mr. Wells: "I think it alleges plainly that I took an immoral woman there."

Judge Fitzgerald objected to this, and said this was for the jury to pass upon. Sustained.

Mr. Williams: "You say you are a humble member of the Methodist church. How long have you been a member of that church?"

Mr. Wells: "I can't remember. Since sometime in 'sixty—"

Judge Fitzgerald objected. Sustained. Exception noted.

Mr. Williams: "Is there anything else in which this article is false?"

Mr. Wells: "The whole gist of the article is that I took a disreputable woman to a disreputable place. I didn't take any disreputable woman anywhere, nor my wife to any disreputable place. I never was in a den in my life. I don't know what sort of a den Beast Baldwin has. You'd probably know better. Baldwin lived in the hotel when I stopped there. My wife was never in his residence or house. Can't tell if he lived in the Baldwin Hotel then, but believe he did. It was not to my knowledge then a disreputable place."

Mr. Williams: "Haven't you since discovered that it was a disreputable place?"

Mr. Wells: "No."

Judge Fitzgerald objected. Sustained. Exception noted.

Mr. Williams: "Didn't you know Baldwin's reputation as a lecherous seducer and destroyer of female character?"

Judge Fitzgerald objected. They were not trying Baldwin's character.

Sustained and exception noted.

Mr. Holton: "Did you see this article on the 6th of February?"

Mr. Wells: "Yes it was called to my attention, and I read it. I had Major Bell arrested within half an hour after I read it."

Mr. Williams: "A day or two before that, you had filed several complaints, aggregating $80,000 for Baldwin against Bell, hadn't you?"

Judge Fitzgerald's objection was sustained.

Mr. Williams: "How long was this before the Perkins-Baldwin trial?"

Mr. Holton objected. Overruled.

Mr. Wells: "It was in 1883. I don't remember the month."

Mr. Williams: "Didn't you ask Mr. Baldwin who the young lady was?"

Mr. Wells: "I never did. I supposed she was a governess. I think she sat at the opposite corner from us. We were at the head of the table, at Mr. Baldwin's right hand, and she at the foot, on the opposite side. I paid no particular attention to her. If she had not sworn that she was there, I should have believed that the lady there was bigger, with black hair and eyes. She had no conversation with us, nor with anyone else."

Mr. Williams: "That's all."

Mr. Wells's examination had lasted 35 minutes, and ended the evidence for the prosecution.

Major Horace Bell was then sworn, and took the stand. He adjusted his lengthy limbs, laid the Porcupine across his lap, cleared his throat, bent his eagle eye upon the jury, and, without waiting to be questioned, began: "The article which Col. Wells testifies is false, is absolutely true, and was written in absolutely good faith. I had written this article—"

Judge Fitzgerald: "I object. The only defense possible is that the article is true. It must be shown first that it is true, and then that it was published for justifiable ends."

Judge Beardsell, of the defense (Mr. Daly's partner), quoted abundant authorities to the contrary. So did Mr. Williams. A long legal tilt ensued, Judge Fitzgerald holding that malice was proved by the fact of publication.

Mr. Daly: "Most of the cases cited by Judge Fitzgerald go away back. Our Constitutional Convention put libel on the same plane with all other crimes, and has even gone beyond, saying that the jury must find not only as to the fact, but also as to the law. It is for the jury to say whether this article is libel or not. The prosecution assumes that it is, but has proved nothing of the sort. Even if the article was false, there is no evidence that it was libelous. They haven't shown that the prosecuting witness was harmed in the least. We have a right to show under what circumstances the article was written."

The Court: "Those decisions that the presumption of malice cannot be rebutted [upon which Judge Fitzgerald had relied] are specially provided against in sections 250 and 251 of our code. The objection is overruled."

Major Bell: "Here is this article 'Wined and Dined' with the Beast.' It had come out in evidence that Wells took his wife to Baldwin's private apartments with Baldwin and Miss Perkins; that Mrs. Wells and Miss Perkins were introduced; that Mrs. Wells was covered with diamonds. It was all brought out in the Perkins-Baldwin trial, and the people were watching that very closely. The other papers criticised that evidence, and so did everyone in town. I criticised it. It was an extraordinary circumstance. To go back a little, there had been published in one of the newspapers of this city a vile article [the Gregory deposition] which to my knowledge was procured by Mr. Wells. [Here the Major was choked off on this tack.] I wrote this 'Wined and Dined' article as my opinion of a man who would take his wife to Baldwin's, introduce her to a lady there, and afterward turn on that lady and try to show that she has been the worst possible person from childhood. Here is the article, 'The cankling hypocrite'—how [rolling it under his tongue with defiant unction] there's the word 'hypocrite'! [Laughter throughout the room. Judge Fitzgerald demanded that the Major confine himself to the case]. This other article, "Was it His Wife?" was written as a sort of apology for the first."

Here the Court ordered the Major to let the other articles alone, and confine himself to answering questions.

Mr. Williams: "Who informed you of the fact?"

Mr. Holton objected, and was sustained. Exception noted.

Mr. Williams: "When you published this article, what were your feelings toward Mr. Wells?"

Major Bell: "Nothing bad. This was just a criticism on a very important lawsuit. I had no malice toward him, and never had any words with him. Why, I have criticised Mr. Holton here much more severely in print. Col. Wells, Holton and I are warm personal friends. [Much laughter.] I published the article just to show the folks how things stood. I published the 'Wined and Dined' article on good authority, and this as an excuse for Mr. Wells. I didn't know which was true."

Here, it being 4 o'clock, and Judge Cheney being ill, the case was continued till 10 a. m. to-day.

Two Street Cars.

Being a portion of a lot built for the undersigned by John Stephenson & Co., New York, and shipped from there March 18th, by the A. T. & S. F. route. It is currently reported that they are being utilized by a Boyle Heights photographer, who has gone south to take "views" of the highly interesting locality where Governor Waterman resided for 6-8 and Miles. If, so far forgetting himself as to venture into that unhealthy locality, any of the festive cowboy may dis over the whereabouts of this stray property, and will kindly advise me, he will be rewarded with a trophy in the shape of a first-class Apache scalp, made to order.

INVESTMENTS
—IN—
Growing City Property

Are probably more remunerative in the long run than any other class of securities. Los Angeles is so situated that its business growth, that which makes property most valuable, inclines in but one direction, that is south. Hills on the west, river on the east, prevent the side development that otherwise might take place. If, as is generally predicted, the city contains 100,000 population five years hence, the most of this acc ession for business particularly must extend out Main st. Property at that time situated on the present boundary line in that direction will probably bear some such relation to the city that Sixth and Main now does.

These facts in mind, we refer to the extraordinary offers of the managers of the Co-operative Nursery Tract, now for sale, subdivided into 492 residence lots, none less than 50x119 feet each. This tract, situated 2½ miles south of Postoffice, is beautiful and perfect in every sense. Those acquainted speak of it in the highest terms. Handsome residences surround it in all directions.

With these lots are included ten beautiful dwellings. Heavy plank sidewalks in front of every lot; four mast electric lights; fifteen extra large corner lo's; fourteen-year-old seedling orange trees and bearing vines, all of which improvements are included in the price, $250 for each lot, payable in easy installments, as follows: $50 cash at time of subscription, $25 in one month, $18 in two months and $10 in three months and each month thereafter until $250 is paid. A few lots in the orange section will afford a family living. About July 31st a drawing will take place to see which of the subscribers get the dwellings and choice lots. These dwellings are to be elegant and first-class in every respect. Plans to be seen at office of J. M. Batchelor & Co., real estate, auctioneers, 236 N. Main street, Baker Block, where subscriptions are being rapidly received. The title of the property is perfect. For further particulars and maps ca'l at above office. Also see large advertisement in this paper, page 3, where a more detailed description may be found. The owner of this tract, whose responsibility is of the highest class, respectfully refers to his onor, Mayor Spence, President of the First National Bank; President John E. Plater, of Los Angeles County Bank; President Geo. H. Bonebrake, of Los Ange'es National Bank. A team leaves 236 N. Main st., Baker Block, daily, fare 5c, to show visitors the grounds. my8 1m
